Management's discussion of fund performance

The fund's Class A shares gained 11.80% for the year ended October 31, 2025. That result compares with a 21.45% gain for the S&P 500 Index. For information on returns for additional periods, including the fund lifetime, please refer to capitalgroup.com/mutual-fund-returns-A.

What factors influenced results

U.S. equities posted strong gains over the fund's fiscal year, rebounding from early 2025 volatility and propelling the S&P 500 Index to new all-time highs. The U.S. fixed income market also delivered strong results, with corporate bond spreads tightening to their lowest levels in 15 years. Although inflation rose slightly, influenced by lingering tariff effects, signs of labor market weakness and broader economic uncertainty prompted the Federal Reserve to cut interest rates in September and October 2025.

The fund's focus on domestic, dividend-paying equities offered strong overall returns for the fiscal year. Equity holdings outside of the U.S. delivered even higher returns but remained a relatively smaller portion of the portfolio. Overall, the information technology, industrials and financials sectors were the largest contributors to absolute equity returns.

Within fixed income, corporates, securitized and emerging market bond holdings were key contributors to returns.
