What factors influenced results

Global equity markets delivered strong gains in 2025, overcoming trade tensions and geopolitical volatility. All major regions posted positive returns, with non-U.S. markets outpacing U.S. equities. U.S. stocks were supported by robust technology earnings and large-cap growth. Stocks in the U.K. and Japan benefited from accommodative monetary policies and fiscal stimulus. Emerging market equities surged, led by China, Taiwan and Korea. Meanwhile, India generated flat returns.

Most sectors delivered gains for the fund, with information technology, industrials and communication services being particularly additive on an absolute basis. Holdings in financials and consumer staples were also positive, though below the portfolio's overall results. U.S.-based companies, which represent a significant portion of the fund, posted gains but slightly lagged the total returns. Companies based in the U.K., Taiwan and France also made meaningful contributions.

Conversely, the health care sector was a significant detractor from overall results, posting the lowest returns. Country-wise, holdings in Denmark, Australia and Indonesia were among the most notable detractors.
