Management's discussion of fund performance

The fund's Class 3 shares gained 18.13% for the year ended December 31, 2025. That result compares with a 17.88% gain for the S&P 500 Index.

What factors influenced results

U.S. equities delivered solid returns in 2025, supported by strong gains from growth sectors. The S&P 500 reached record highs as solid corporate earnings from large-cap technology companies outweighed concerns about the economic impact of tariffs. Consumer spending remained resilient, fueling economic growth. However, persistent labor market softness led the U.S. Federal Reserve to implement three 25-basis-point rate cuts during the year.

Most sectors contributed positively to fund results, with information technology, industrials and communication services being particularly impactful. Financials posted positive returns, although they lagged the overall portfolio. Consumer staples also added to absolute returns but represented a relatively small portion of fund holdings.

Conversely, the materials and utilities sectors had negative returns and detracted from overall results.

Changes in and disagreements with accountants

On December 10, 2025, PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP ("PwC") was dismissed and Deloitte & Touche LLP was appointed as the fund's independent registered public accounting firm for the fiscal year ending December 31, 2026 audit. The change in the fund's independent registered public accounting firm was approved by the fund's board of trustees, including a majority of the independent trustees, upon recommendation of the audit committee, as part of a broader effort to update board oversight and fund operations. At no point during the fund's fiscal years ended December 31, 2024 and December 31, 2025 and the subsequent interim period through February 13, 2026, were there any disagreements between management and PwC on any matter of accounting principles or practices, financial statement disclosure or auditing scope or procedure.
