Quarterly review

Global stocks declined as an escalating war in the Middle East heightened concerns about rising inflation, energy supply disruptions and slowing economic growth. U.S. and European markets sank, outweighing gains in Japan. Emerging markets were essentially flat. Overall, the MSCI All Country World (ACWI) fell 3%.

Bonds declined and yields rose as investors responded to higher inflation expectations driven by the surge in energy prices. The U.S. Federal Reserve held interest rates steady at its January and March meetings, contributing to expectations for fewer rate cuts over the remainder of the year. Likewise, the European Central Bank and Bank of Japan left their key policy rates unchanged.

Investors should carefully consider investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses. This and other important information is contained in the fund prospectuses and summary prospectuses, which can be obtained from a financial professional and should be read carefully before investing.

MSCI All Country World Index (ACWI) is a free float-adjusted market capitalization weighted index that is designed to measure equity market results in the global developed and emerging markets, consisting of more than 40 developed and emerging market country indexes. The indexes are unmanaged and therefore, have no expenses. Investors cannot invest directly in an index. There have been periods when the fund has lagged the index.

Allocations may not achieve investment objectives. The portfolios' risks are directly related to the risks of the underlying funds in proportion to their allocations. Investing outside the United States involves risks such as currency fluctuations, periods of illiquidity and price volatility. These risks may be heightened in connection with investments in developing countries. The return of principal for bond portfolios and for portfolios with significant underlying bond holdings is not guaranteed. Investments are subject to the same interest rate, inflation and credit risks associated with the underlying bond holdings. Lower rated bonds are subject to greater fluctuations in value and risk of loss of income and principal than higher rated bonds.
