Indexes are unmanaged, and therefore, have no expenses. Their results include reinvested distributions but do not reflect the effect of sales charges, commissions, account fees, expenses or U.S. federal income taxes. Investors cannot invest directly in an index. There have been periods when the fund has lagged the index.

Quarterly review

U.S. stocks declined, as a conflict with Iran and new tariff policies kicked off a five-week losing streak to close the quarter, erasing early-quarter gains. Overall, the S&P 500 Index fell 4%, closing at its steepest quarterly decline since the first quarter of last year despite reaching several all-time highs earlier in the period.

The U.S. Federal Reserve (Fed) held interest rates steady at its January and March meetings, ending a streak of three consecutive rate cuts to close 2025. Fed Chair Jerome Powell indicated that he doesn't expect rates to change until the impacts of recent geopolitical developments become clearer.

Investors should carefully consider investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses. This and other important information is contained in the fund prospectuses and summary prospectuses, which can be obtained from a financial professional and should be read carefully before investing.

If used after June 30, 2026, this material must be accompanied by the most recent applicable quarterly statistical update(s) for the product(s) shown.

Past results are not predictive of results in future periods.

Allocations may not achieve investment objectives. The portfolios' risks are directly related to the risks of the underlying funds in proportion to their allocations. Investing outside the United States involves risks such as currency fluctuations, periods of illiquidity and price volatility. These risks may be heightened in connection with investments in developing countries. The return of principal for bond portfolios and for portfolios with significant underlying bond holdings is not guaranteed. Investments are subject to the same interest rate, inflation and credit risks associated with the underlying bond holdings. Lower rated bonds are subject to greater fluctuations in value and risk of loss of income and principal than higher rated bonds.
