A balanced allocation

Many prudent investors want to own a diversified mix of stocks and bonds but may not know how to allocate their investment dollars. For these investors, American Balanced Fund may be a good choice. The fund's portfolio managers:

- Manage the asset mix within a defined range: 50% to 75% in stocks.
- Seek to invest in attractively valued stocks of companies and in investment-grade bonds (rated BBB-/Baa3 and above).
- Can invest up to 20% outside the United States.

Diversified approach

The fund invests in a wide variety of bonds and fixed income securities, as well as stocks from companies in a broad range of sectors and industries. The allocation of stocks and bonds varies depending on where the fund's managers believe the best long-term opportunities are found. Consistent with the fund's quality orientation, the fund generally invests in bonds that are rated Baa3 or better or BBB- or better.

Consistent investment strategy

The fund's portfolio managers pay considerable attention to risk and keep the allocation of stocks and bonds balanced in accordance with the fund's investment strategy. This strategy helps mitigate risk, as the fund tends to reduce equities when the stock market is strong and increase them when the market is weak. To help further manage risks, our investment professionals rely on extensive fundamental research to find attractively valued stocks and bonds.

Figures shown are past results for Class A shares and are not predictive of results in future periods. Current and future results may be lower or higher than those shown. Prices and returns will vary, so investors may lose money. Investing for short periods makes losses more likely. Unless otherwise indicated, results shown are at net asset value and do not reflect a sales charge. If the 5.75% maximum Class A sales charge had been deducted, results would have been lower. Sources: U.S. stocks – S&P 500 Index is a market capitalization-weighted index based on the results of approximately 500 widely held common stocks, and its results include reinvested dividends and/or distributions but do not reflect the effect of sales charges, commissions, account fees, expenses or U.S. federal income taxes; U.S. bonds – Bloomberg U.S. Aggregate Index. The blend is a weighted mix of 60% S&P 500 and 40% Bloomberg U.S. Aggregate indexes. The example assumes the blend is rebalanced monthly; Refinitiv Lipper – Lipper Balanced Funds Index is an equally weighted index of funds that seek to conserve principal by maintaining a balanced portfolio of both stocks and bonds. The indexes are unmanaged and, therefore, have no expenses; their results include reinvested distributions. Investors cannot invest directly in an index. There have been periods when the fund has lagged the index.

Bond ratings, which typically range from AAA/Aaa (highest) to D (lowest), are assigned by credit rating agencies such as S&P, Moody's and/or Fitch, as an indication of an issuer's creditworthiness.

† Source for industry average: Lipper Balanced Funds Average, which represents funds that seek to conserve principal by maintaining a balanced portfolio of both stocks and bonds. The industry average expense ratio is based on statistics for front-end load funds (excluding funds of funds) for the most recent fiscal year-ends available through 12/31/25.

Investors should carefully consider the investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses. This and other important information is contained in the fund's prospectus and summary prospectus, which can be obtained from a financial professional and should be read carefully before investing.

Investment results assume all distributions are reinvested and reflect applicable fees and expenses. Past results are not predictive of results in future periods. The expense ratio is as of the fund's prospectus available at the time of publication. When applicable, results reflect fee waivers and/or expense reimbursements, without which they would have been lower.
