The fund’s expense ratio reflected in the prospectus dated September 1, 2019, includes fees and expenses incurred indirectly by the fund as a result of its investments in pooled investment vehicles (“acquired funds”) and was 0.80%.

Investing in developing markets may be subject to additional risks, such as significant currency and price fluctuations, political instability, differing securities regulations and periods of illiquidity, which are detailed in the fund’s prospectus. Investments in developing markets have been more volatile than investments in developed markets, reflecting the greater uncertainties of investing in less established economies. Individuals investing in developing markets should have a long-term perspective and be able to tolerate potentially sharp declines in the value of their investments.

Fund inception: May 31, 1986. Returns are in USD.

Class M is the new share class name of the original single share class of the Fund. Class M shares may not be purchased or acquired except by shareholders with existing investments in Class M shares as of September 1, 2017. Investment results assume all distributions are reinvested and reflect applicable fees and expenses. Capital International’s management fees are described in Part 2A of its Form ADV.

Market indexes are unmanaged and, therefore, have no expenses. Investors cannot invest directly in an index. There have been periods when the fund has lagged the index. When applicable, investment results reflect fee waivers and/or expense reimbursements, without which results would have been lower.
